

Google High Position, You Better Wait

Contributed by Javier Yep Garcia
Wednesday, 11 October 2006

I had this in mind from the beginning, the fact of waiting to get high ranked in google. But these last 6 months I was totally desolated about my SEO works. I had even some customers that were complaining about 'why their site were not showing even in the first 100 positions?', and you can imagine I was blaming google the loud way :)

I have to say that I have never lost my hope, because I knew, google will come back someday with these sites on its first positions!, thanks God, my hope and my prayers were listened:).

After 10 months, more less, of hard working on these seo works for those sites, some of them have started to show in the first positions in google. What a great surprise!

Now I only need to tell the admin of those sites to update from time to time their sites in order to get well spidered by google, this will not permit the site to loose positions.

Quick tip: Google likes regulary updated websites.