

Search Engine Optimization, is your template helping you?

Contributed by Javier Yep Garcia
Wednesday, 21 March 2007

Yes, is your template helping you in your search engine optimization activities? - A good and well organized template is required to have a boost on your seo work. Html tables or not? - We don't recommend the use of tables anymore, this doesn't help spiders to better walk through your site and links.

Using a CSS file to control all of the positions, fonts, colors and images is the best way to create a template today, spiders will be really happy when they come to your site, they love to go straight to your text and links, no more tables!

In the html document we have the possibility to use the  tags and try to put the blocks one after another so we can have a single column when we see the 'only text' browser. Give just one column to the spiders to walk on, they will love it!
 [Do You Want Us To Design Your Next Killer Template? - Click Here! ]